

HORROR HORROR

A HALLOWEEN SCRATCH NIGHT

Bashir Productions is back at the Etcetera Theatre with a brand new scratch night - Horror Horror. Join us for an hour of gothic fun, including drama, poetry, music and general shenanigans.

*

Horror Horror is the second scratch night Bashir Productions has hosted at the Etcetera Theatre, following Rendez-Vous in June 2018. This time, the company gets into the spirit of the season with a show focusing on gothic themes – everything from incompetent vampires, through grave exhumation to a poetic exploration of anxiety.

A team of ten performers presents exciting new writing interspersed with music and classical poetry. If you've been dreaming of a show that has John Keats and Iron Maiden on the same bill, along with the work of brand new up-and-coming writers, 'Horror Horror' is the show for you.

About the Company:

Bashir Productions is a theatre company and registered charity dedicated to giving a platform to emerging talent, with an emphasis on artists from underrepresented groups. Founded by Mimi Malaz Bashir in 2016, the company is run entirely by volunteers and prides itself on producing high quality theatre for the people, not for profit.

Previous shows include 'Here She Is', a female-led showcase at Theatre Peckham, 'Rendez-Vous', a scratch night at the Etcetera Theatre, and 'The Falconsbridge School For Girls', performed at The Lion and Unicorn as part of the Camden Fringe.

Coming up is 'Creative Collisions', a showcase at The Cockpit on the 27th of November, and 'Doe', a play about survivors of sexual assault at The Etcetera Theatre on the 5th of December.

Note to Editors:

Tickets to 'Horror Horror' are £10 and are free to journalists, agents, casting directors, producers and other industry professionals who RSVP to Joy Waldron at bashirproductionscharity@gmail.com.
